C4 Center’s acting CEO, Pushpan Murugiah represented C4 Center at a dynamic discussion between the CSO Platform for Reform and the former Law Minister Dato Sri Dr Haji Wan Junaidi Bin Tuanku Jaafar.

The 1.5-hours covered a wide range of law reforms such as the Whistleblowers Act, MACC reform, access to information and the right to information, the recommendations of the Indigenous Peoples’ National Inquiry, police accountability, harassment of human rights defenders, the Peaceful Assembly Act, and the harmonization of civil and Syariah law.

It was encouraging to hear the Minister already had some reforms like abolishing the death penalty, reforming the Whipping and Insolvency act, Political Funding, and Parliament reform under his pipeline.

Overall it was a fruitful discussion. We look forward to more engagements like these.
C4 Center held a special press conference in September, pertaining to the on-going LCS Scandal.

Firstly, we would like to thank all the media houses/journalists who dropped by and picked up the story.

In this regard, C4 Center demands the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission (#MACC) to explain its continued silence and refusal to initiate a probe into key figures in the #Scorpene and #LCSscandals.

Additionally, we want MACC to release all its findings to date pertaining to its investigations into the LCS scandal.
C4 Center has tracked the developments of a selected 11 out of the NACP's 115 initiatives through our MyGovt Reform Tracker (MGRT) and we launched the full report last Friday.

The MyGovt Reform Tracker (MGRT) has demonstrated how all three governments since the 2018 General Elections have failed in different ways and times to implement the NACP.

As the country heads towards its 15th General Election, the constant sidelining of Malaysia's reforms should catalyze for the Rakyat to seriously consider their choice of election candidate and the parties that deserve to be in government and protect their interests.
C4 Center team met with Minister-Counsellor Dong Jo Kim from the Korea Embassy Malaysia to discuss and share insights on transparent and accountable institutions, as well as best practices in procurement and how to better provide oversight on governance issues.

Thank you so much Mr Kim and the Embassy of ROK for meeting with us, and we look forward to further fruitful engagements!
With our collaborative partner Rasuah Busters, we officially launched our political satirical interactive card game. Designed to educate the public on good governance and anti-corruption in an entertaining way, the card game allows each player to be an MP.

Build My-Town is now available for sale on C4 Center’s website, to make the purchase. Do take note, all proceeds from the sales go directly into our research and ground activities.
C4 Center members caught off candid as they were guiding a few groups of young people on the mechanics of the Build My-Town card game.

Most of the participants were students and young activists from some major CSOs in Malaysia. Unanimously they agreed, the game was fun and thought-provoking as well.

And a special shout-out to Rasuah Busters for organising the whole event.
As General Election approaches, C4 Center has prepared Business in Politics: Seeking Control of Malaysia’s Political System Report that draws attention to unnoted connections between some of the country’s top politicians and businesses.

This report underscores the critical point about candidate selection by parties and party leaders should be aware that since the problem of #moneyinpolitics is a growing concern, they are duty-bound to nominate candidates who have an unblemished corruption record.

This is fundamental towards ensuring #transparency and #accountability in the governance and administration of the country when the next government is formed.
BUILD MY-TOWN ON-GROUND ACTIVITIES

C4 Center team went on ground at few election rallies promoting our Build MY-Town card game.
In conjunction with International Anti-Corruption Day (IACD) today, C4 Center held a youth engagement event of playing our latest interactive political card game with representatives from university student councils and political parties.
C4 Center team had a blast at the Human Rights Festival (#bchrfest) a celebration in line of International Human Rights Day.

We met lots of likeminded people fighting for various calls of human rights, and it was truly an honour to be present at such ground and advocate on our anti-corruption efforts which is a key element of human right justice.

A big thank you to everyone who dropped by our booth and supported us by making a purchase of our Build MY-Town card game.
C4 CENTER AT FOI REPORT LAUNCH BY SINAR PROJECT AND CIJ MALAYSIA

C4 Center has long advocated for a Federal Freedom of Information (FoI) Law, especially under the oppressive conditions of the Official Secrets Act, which, either by design or implementation, was anathema to the spirit of Freedom of Information.

Glad to have shared some of our insights at this report launch into the best practices necessary to prevent such loopholes from denying citizens their right to information.

It is our hope that the eventual FOI Law is sufficiently robust to pre-emptively check kleptocratic tendencies, and together with the efforts from like-minded CSOs, let’s push for a strong, effective FOI.
C4 CENTER ANNUAL DINNER
C4 Center is committed to propagating good governance across various levels of the administrative institutions of Malaysia.

As we dedicate our efforts to combating corruption, the work that goes into it demands extensive labour.

These activities range from policy recommendations to pursuing in-depth investigations and engaging with anti-corruption stakeholders, including campaigning with grassroots communities.

For this reason, we hope you will join us in this cause and donate any amount to our work. Your financial contribution will be channelled into the following activities:

Most importantly, funding from the people also helps safeguard C4’s independence so that we can keep delivering critical information that seeks to keep our public institutions corrupt-free and accountable.

Our work is inspired by like-minded Malaysians who still believe in a brighter future for our nation. Any contribution, no matter how small or big, is significant for us.

Be our patron today.
